

The marks الْحَرَكَات

The little signs that turn consonants into words: fatḥa, kasra, ḍamma, sukūn, shadda, the long ا و ي, the tied اِ, ة and the hamza — each with its sound in English and Ukrainian letters, and words to write.

1. Say the sound out loud every single time you write the letter — the hand and the ear learn together.
2. Start at the right and move left. The dots come last, after the body of the letter is finished.
3. Trace the dotted letters first. Then cover the line and write it again on the empty ones.
4. When you can write a letter without looking at the model, go on to the next sheet.

Three little marks · ثلاث حركات

A letter on its own is only a consonant. The mark tells you the vowel: a stroke above is a, a stroke below is i, a little loop above is u.

الحَرْفُ لِحَالِهِ صَامِتٌ. الْحَرَكَةُ هِيَ الَّتِي تُقُولُ لَكَ الصَّوْتُ: فَوْقَ فَتْحَةٌ a، وَتَحْتَ كَسْرَةٌ i، وَاللُّقَّةُ فَوْقَ ضَمَّةٌ u.

السُّكُون — بلا حَرَكَة • Sukūn — no vowel at all

A small circle over a letter means: nothing after it. The letter closes the syllable and you go straight on.
دَائِرَة صُغِيرَة فَوْق الحَرْف مَعْنَاهَا: مَا بَعْدَهُ حَرَكَة. الحَرْف يُسَكِّر المَقْطَع وتُكْمَل عَلَى طُول.

حُرُوف المَدَّ • The three long ones

ا و ي are letters and lengths at once: bāb, nūr, kbīr. In Saudi, ay becomes ē and aw becomes ō — that is why بيت is bēt and يوم is yōm.

ا و ي حُرُوف ومُدود بِنَفْسِ الْوَقْتِ: bāb, nūr, kbīr. وفي السُّعُودِي ay تُصِير ē وaw تُصِير ō — عَشَان كَذَا «بيت» bēt و«يوم» yōm.

The tied t — التاء المربوطة

A h with two dots on top ends most feminine words. On its own it sounds like a soft a; when another word follows, it wakes up as t: gahwa, but gahwat aṣ-ṣubḥ.

الْبَيْت

الـ and the letters that swallow it • تَبْلَعُهَا — الـ

الـ is “the”, written the same every time and not always said the same. Before half the letters you hear the l; before the other half it disappears into the letter, which then doubles: al-bēt, but ash-shams.

الـ هي «الـ»، تُنَكِّتُ وَحْدَةً وَمَا تَنْقَالَ وَحْدَةً. قُدَّامَ نُصِّ الحُرُوفِ تَسْمَعُ اللامَ، وَقُدَّامَ النُّصِّ الثَّانِي تَخْفِي فِي الحَرْفِ وَاللَّي بَعْدَهُ يَتَشَدَّدُ: al-bēt، بَسْ ash-shams.

Hamza — the catch in the throat · الهمزة

ء is a sound of its own: the tiny stop in English uh-oh. It rides on a chair — أ إ ؤ — or sits alone. And ى at the end of a word is just a long a.

ء صَوْتُ بُرُوحَةٍ: الْوَقْفَةُ الصَّغِيرَةُ الَّتِي بَيْنَ الْمَقْطَعَيْنِ. تَرْكَبُ عَلَى كُرْسِيٍّ — أ إ ؤ — أَوْ تَجْلِسُ لِحَالِهَا. وَالِى بِأَخْرِ الْكَلِمَةِ مُجَرَّدَ أَلِفٍ طَوِيلَةٍ.
